

Karen Morrow welcomes refugees by loving their children

August 6, 2018

Late Monday mornings, the foyer of Kingdom Manifesters International Ministries sounds like the United Nations. Children from all over—all over the world, not just all over their neighborhood—stream into the building.

HSU helps global participants learn to welcome strangers

August 6, 2018

During a two-week program at Hardin-Simmons University, representatives from nine countries learned how to welcome strangers by celebrating differences.

Positive talk about sex help

Christians confront porn crisis

August 6, 2018

In light of pervasive pornography in society at large, Christians need to develop a theology of sin and sex so they won't be blindsided by how younger generations interact with sexuality, counselor Jenna Mountain told a Texas Baptist workshop.

Teens' screen time linked to ADHD and spiritual problems

August 6, 2018

Teens who report high-frequency digital media use are twice as likely to develop ADHD, a study in the Journal of the American Medical Association reports. Christian mental health practitioners say excessive screen time can damage the soul, as well.

Trucker who killed missionary family of five finds mercy

August 6, 2018

A grieving father's Scripture-laden plea for mercy led to a lenient 180-day jail sentence for the truck driver who killed a missionary family of five in an auto accident last year.

Former SBC Peace Committee Chair Charles Fuller dies

August 6, 2018

Charles Fuller, a Virginia pastor who chaired the Southern Baptist Convention's Peace Committee, died July 28 in Roanoke, Va. He was 86.

Most churchgoers say God wants them to prosper financially

August 6, 2018

For some Americans, dropping a check into the offering plate at church is a bit like having a Discover Card. They expect a cash-back bonus.

Fewer Americans attend religious services; research tells why

August 6, 2018

Fewer adults are attending religious services in the United States, but not necessarily because they don't believe.

Treasury Department sanctions Turkish officials it says helped detain U.S. pastor

August 6, 2018

The Trump Administration sanctioned two high-level officials in Turkey for what it says is their role in the case of U.S. pastor Andrew Brunson, who faces terrorism-related charges.

Sessions announces special task force on religious liberty

August 6, 2018

Attorney General Jeff Sessions announced he is creating a religious liberty task force to challenge what he called a dangerous movement “eroding our great tradition of religious freedom.”

Churches natural allies in community development initiatives

August 6, 2018

Nonprofit organizations focused on community development should recognize churches as natural allies in helping vulnerable children and their families improve their lives, said Lorena Gonzalez, vice president of Urban Strategies.

La Convención Hispana Elige Oficiales

August 6, 2018

Los mensajeros de la Convención Hispana Bautista de Texas eligieron los siguientes oficiales durante la sesión de negocios, la cual se llevó a cabo durante la Junta Familiar.