

2nd Opinion: Eight rules for the Age of Trump

June 17, 2016

Religious Americans don't know what to do. When it comes to questions of religion in the public square, the rules of the game have changed, whether you are a religious liberal or a religious conservative. And with a national election coming, this new reality has generated confusion and concern in both camps.

Click here to read the full article at the Huffington Post.

Eric Yoffie is a lecturer, writer and president emeritus of the Union for Reform Judaism.