

Letters: Hate, police, religious liberty

July 26, 2016

Letters this week focus on law enforcement, evangelicals' tendency to whine and church-state separation.

Alaska: Blacking out windows

July 26, 2016

Student Missions Blog: I am so glad we have a God who overcomes the darkness and filters through the tiniest of cracks to guide us.

Letters: National healing; CBF and biblical authority

July 26, 2016

Letters this week deal with Baptist response to racial discrimination in America and the Cooperative Baptist Fellowship's stand on biblical authority.

Editorial: Evangelicals, quit complaining and follow Jesus' lead

July 26, 2016

U.S. Christians—especially white evangelicals—need to quit wringing their hands about their waning influence and live out Jesus' commandment to serve the people he called “the least.”

Commentary: It's time for churches to step forward and heal national wounds

July 26, 2016

In the aftermath of the events in Dallas and other tragic events in Louisiana and Minnesota, Jim Denison says, Christians can take steps to help our nation become the “United” States our founders envisioned.

New York: After trust is earned

July 26, 2016

Student Missions blog: Working at Swerve Church in Brooklyn has taught me how hard the hustle of church work is. But when you do get to see the fruit, that's when you realize God is so good. When you are out serving the community more than two months, expressions start to change.

In Touch: Nice tragedy, Mangum, Children's Missions Day, annual meeting, Lilly grant

July 26, 2016

BGCT Executive Director David Hardage offers a range of items for consideration this week.

God's solution to the racial problem—new man

July 26, 2016

God provides a four-part solution to humanity's problem with racism.

2nd Opinion: America's problem is not racial tension; it's racism

July 26, 2016

To overcome racism and racial tension, Americans cannot simply shout "peace, peace" from the sidelines when there is no peace. They must run into the pain and chaos when others run away.

Guest editorial: The 'talk' black parents must have with their kids is unjust and also unfair

July 26, 2016

The mere fact black parents have to have this "talk" (about policing) means our society accepts that black children don't get to enjoy childhood the way nonblack children do, and it means our society accepts that black children will not be treated fairly. (Houston Chronicle)

Seattle: Conversation in the Giving Room

July 26, 2016

Student Missions Blog: This is Mike. I met him through the food bank at Epic Life Church in Seattle, where I am serving.

Step right up! Read all about it!

July 26, 2016

News, when it comes to preaching, is not telling stories and entertaining people. It's not walking through of our Bible stories. News is "sharing a word that makes a life-changing difference"!